ORAL IMPLANT PROCEDURES

Non-Discrimination Statement and Multi-Language Interpreter Services information are located at the end of this document.

Coverage for services, procedures, medical devices and drugs are dependent upon benefit eligibility as outlined in the member's specific benefit plan. This Evidence-Based Criteria must be read in its entirety to determine coverage eligibility, if any.

This Evidence-Based Criteria provides information related to coverage determinations only and does not imply that a service or treatment is clinically appropriate or inappropriate. The provider and the member are responsible for all decisions regarding the appropriateness of care. Providers should provide BCBSAZ complete medical rationale when requesting any exceptions to these guidelines.

The section identified as "Description" defines or describes a service, procedure, medical device or drug and is in no way intended as a statement of medical necessity and/or coverage.

The section identified as "Criteria" defines criteria to determine whether a service, procedure, medical device or drug is considered medically necessary or experimental or investigational.

State or federal mandates, e.g., FEP program, may dictate that any drug, device or biological product approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) may not be considered experimental or investigational and thus the drug, device or biological product may be assessed only on the basis of medical necessity.

Evidence-Based Criteria are subject to change as new information becomes available.

For purposes of this Evidence-Based Criteria the terms "experimental" and "investigational" are considered to be interchangeable.

Description:

Implants in the mandible or maxilla, also known as oral implants, may be used in medical procedures as 'hardware' to stabilize a fracture or to reconstruct the mandible and/or maxilla in order to restore function after head and neck trauma, radiation treatments, or surgery, e.g., surgical resection in the treatment of cancer.

There are multiple types of implants. The endosteal implant is surgically inserted into the jawbone. The subperiosteal implant is placed on top of the jawbone, under the gum tissue. The transosteal implant is placed across a fracture(s) of the bone.

Functional Impairment:
A state in which the normal or proper action of any body part or organ is damaged or deficient as a result of a mandible and/or maxilla that has been altered by head and neck trauma[1], radiation treatments or surgery.

Criteria:

The following are requirements for medical necessity and benefit review:

- Clinical records to include a detailed description of preoperative services intended, or,
- Clinical records to include postoperative reporting of services already provided
- For precertification review, the exact intent of the procedure must be established

- Placement of oral implants in the mandible and/or maxilla, and any related procedures, are considered medically necessary and eligible for coverage with documentation that the implant is used for stabilization or reconstruction of the mandible and/or maxilla to restore function after ANY of the following:

  1. Head and neck trauma[1]
  2. Radiation treatments
  3. Surgery, e.g., resection in the treatment of cancer

- Original placement, repair or replacement of oral implants, and any related procedures, to provide an anchor or a post to support a prosthesis, e.g., dentures, partial dentures, fixed bridges or crowns, is considered a benefit plan exclusion and not eligible for coverage under the member's medical benefit.

[1] Trauma is defined as an accidental injury to the structures of the mandible and/or maxilla caused by an external force or element such as a blow or fall.
